76 SENIORS TO GRADUATE JUNE 4

MISS GRINER, DAVIS LEADERS; ORATORS NAMED

No Outside Speaker to Be Obtained for Closing School Exercises

GRADUATES ANNOUNCED

George Rader and Richard Harmon Selected for Addresses

Seventy-six Circleville high school seniors will be graduated at annual commencement exercises in the school auditorium Thursday, June 4. The graduating list was announced Thursday by Principal E. E. Reger.

There will be no outside speaker for this year's exercises, the program following the lines of that of a year ago which proved so successful.

Alice Griner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Griner, 367 E. Main-st., was announced as the valedictorian, having an average of 94.66 for her four years of high school. Matilda Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, 616 S. Court-st., won the salutatory honor with a grade of 93.94 for her four years.

Two Chosen Speakers

Two class members have been chosen for speakers at the commencement, one by the senior class and one by the faculty. The seniors chose George Rader and the faculty Richard Harmon.

Vocal and instrumental music will intersperse the addresses.

Another feature of the commencement will be presentation of Kiwanis Club scholarship keys to the highest ranking boy and girl in the class, decided by a survey of their four year work. The winners will not be announced until the night of the graduation.

List of Graduates

The graduates include Opal Allen, Cecil Andrews, Dorothy Beatty, Betty Binkley, Eleanor Brown, Margaret Butler, Ellen Clark, Lucille Cooper, Matilda Davis, Margaret Davis, Ann Denman, Jane Drum, Ruth Dunlap, Mary Essick, Willard Friley, Robert Goode, Fred Grant, John Griffith, Alice Griner, Mary Elizabeth Groce.

Dry Keynoter

DR. D. LEIGH COLVIN of New York, "keynoter" of the national prohibition party, is pictured at the speakers' stand during the organization's national convention in Niagara Falls, N. Y. "Repeal has alcoholized women," Dr. Colvin told delegates. "Formerly it was the wandering boy who made mothers gray, but now it is the drinking daughter, also."

AGED RESIDENT OF CITY IS DEAD

Mrs. Hammel, 86 Three Years; Rites Saturday

Mrs. Samantha H. Hammel, 86, widow of Lyman Hammel, Civil War veteran, died Wednesday at 11 p. m. at her home in E. High-st. She had been ill three years.

Mrs. Hammel was a native of Fairfield-co, born Aug. 15, 1849, a daughter of Henry and Elizabeth Riegel Heffner.

Surviving are a brother, William Heffner, and 12 nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the home with Rev. E. S. Tonsmeier of the Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery. Mader & Elbert in charge.

Pall bearers will be O. F. Heffner, Charles Heffner, Harley Homrighouse, Daniel Brobst, H. M. Crites, and Robert Brobst.

SEASONAL PRICE DROP HITS LIVESTOCK MART

Top hogs sold from $9.30 to $9.40 Wednesday at the local livestock sale. Last week's top prices were $9.75 to $10 and during the last three weeks hog prices have dropped off about $1.50 per hundred.

Livestock dealers reported the drop is seasonal and predicted better prices in June. A total of 509 head of hogs were run through the local sale.

Medium to good grades of cattle ranged from $6.75 to $7.75 with receipts reported at 152 head. Forty-eight calves were sold with good to choice grades selling from $8 to $9.50. Fair to choice sheep sold from $10.30 to $10.80. Twenty-four head were run through the sale.

WORKERS RE-ASSIGNED TO NORTHERN SEWER JOB

Thirty-five WPA workers on the N. Court-st repaving program were transferred back to the northern sewer pipe projects Thursday.

Sewer pipe for the northern program was recently purchased by the city and a number of extensions will be completed.

All projects were opened Thursday morning after a two-day suspension.

TWO GUARDS HOSTAGES

Airplane Used in Search for Men Who Started Brick Plant Riot

TULSA, Okla., May 14.—(UP)—Gov. E. W. Marland, personally directing the search for the convict fugitives from State penitentiary, stood ready today to call out the state militia in case the felons are cornered in southeast Oklahoma.

BLANCO, Okla., May 14.—(UP)—Desperate convicts who fought their way to liberty at McAllister state prison, killing one man, today held a farmer as a hostage with two guards they kidnapped as they fled yesterday.

Wilbur Doak, farmer near here, was abducted last night by the convicts, a farmwoman, Mrs. Taylor reported. Mrs. Taylor said the fugitives came to her place last night and forced her to prepare a meal for them.

One Guard Wounded

The convicts had two prison guards, Tuck Cope and Victor Conn, with them, Mrs. Taylor said. One of them had been wounded in the neck, she said.

Reports the guards had been shot and thrown from a car near here were denied.

C. D. Powell, superintendent of the prison brick plant where 23 convicts rioted, and Robert Dunham, an incorrigible prisoner, were killed. Ten men were wounded when guards fired on the rioting prisoners.

Nine Convicts Shot

Nine convicts were felled by shotgun slugs from the guns of guards in six towers overlooking the brick plant. Six fugitives were captured on the streets of McAlester.

The eight fugitives were believed to be fleeing in an automobile and an ice truck. The car was stolen from W. W. Gossett, a guard, who was among the wounded. The truck was commandeered in McAlester.

Powell was believed to have been murdered when some of the convicts transferred to the ice truck.

A plane from the Oklahoma-co sheriff's office flew over the eastern part of Oklahoma searching for the truck and automobile.

"WEATHER MEDLEY" OFFERED TO COUNTY

Pickaway-co's weather gods are playing a medley for May and making all their tunes surprises.

Under the calendar it is spring but temperatures have been tuned to summer and fall.

After the heavy wind and rain storm Wednesday afternoon the mercury slumped to 48 degrees during the night. The highest recording Wednesday afternoon was 75 degrees.

Rainfall in the 24 hours preceding 7 a. m. Thursday totalled .75 of an inch.

BANK IS ROBBED OF $6,000 SUM

Wellington, O. Scene; Two Men Loot Cash Drawers

WELLINGTON, May 14.—(UP)—Three employees of the Wellington bank were held up today by two men who escaped after robbing the cash drawers of $6,000.

One robber pointed a gun toward the employees and four customers of the bank while the other took the money. The employees were warned against making an outcry.

The bank employees were Karl Townsend, cashier; Miss Gertrude Debbie, teller, and Leon Jones, bookkeeper. The customers were Mrs. William Murray and her daughter, Julia, Frank Cugaski and O. J. Baumgartner.

The robbers escaped in an automobile, driving west on route 18.

ITALY CABINET BACKS IL DUCE

Approval Voted for Move Annexing Ethiopia

ROME, May 14.—(UP)—The Chamber of Deputies today unanimously approved the royal decrees of May 9 proclaiming Italian sovereignty over Ethiopia, making King Victor Emmanuel and Emperor appointing Marshal Pietro Badoglio viceroy of the conquered territory.

The decrees were presented personally by Premier Benito Mussolini. Unanimous approval was voted immediately after their formal examination by a parliamentary commission.

Meanwhile Italy and all Europe awaited from Il Duce a pronouncement on his policy toward the League of Nations—whether to withdraw in anger or remain a non-cooperating member until the Ethiopian situation is clarified.

LIGHTER IN LUNG FATAL TO GIRL; AUTOPSY CALLED

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—(UP)—Coroner Charles H. Hersch today ordered an autopsy performed on the body of 16-year-old Pauline Lane, Knoxville, Tenn., who died of complications before an operation could be performed to remove a cigarette lighter top from her left lung.

RUSSELL CIRCUS WINS PRAISE FOR MERITOUS SHOW

One of the best small circuses to appear in Circleville in many years was the Russell Bros., show presented on the Halsey lot, Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The three-ring motorized circus presented a program of merit and fans highly praised the performances. The show came here from Xenia and left Wednesday night for Athens.

BLOODLESS COUP GIVES AUSTRIA PEASANT LEADER

Starhemberg on Way to Rome as Dictator Objects to Wire to Duce

REITHER HAS POWER

Heimwehr to Be Disarmed as Price is Deposed; Future Uncertain

VIENNA, May 14.—(UP)—Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, newly installed as unofficial dictator after a swift, bloodless coup which approximated a revolution, intends to disarm the Fascist Heimwehr of Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, it was said authoritatively today.

Starhemberg, ousted by Schuschnigg and the new man-behind-the-throne, Josef Reither, Peasant leader, brought about his own downfall by sending Premier Benito Mussolini a fulsome telegram of congratulation on the conquest of Ethiopia.

Reither Powerful

Schuschnigg disapproved, and so did Reither, who is a man little known abroad but beloved by the peasants, an anti-Fascist, anti-Nazi, called the country's greatest hope for Democratic government.

The coup was a smashing blow at Mussolini.

Former Finance Minister Josef Kollmann, leader of the left wing of the Schuschnigg-Reither Christian Socialists, told the United Press that Starhemberg's troops would be disbanded within a few weeks.

"We do not expect active opposition," he said.

But soldiers and police throughout the country took exceptional measures to insure peace today.

It was announced that Starhemberg would leave for Rome by train tonight, as the official leader of Austrian sports, to attend a football game Sunday between Italian and Austrian teams.

Future Uncertain

Starhemberg's future was uncertain, as Vice Chancellor under Schuschnigg he was the real leader. Now Reither is the power, along with Schuschnigg.

Starhemberg was ousted unceremoniously from office and from power. His sole hope for immediate return to leadership was some desperate move.

LORD ALLENBY, WAR HERO, DIES

Took Palestine for Britain During World Fight

LONDON, May 14.—(UP)—Lord Allenby, World War conqueror of Palestine and one of Britain's foremost soldier-statesmen, died today. He was 75.

Lord Allenby died at 12:30 p. m. His death plunged England and the empire into mourning. Only this week he deplored in the strongest terms Italy's methods of warfare against Ethiopian warriors.

His death was sudden. It was believed the result of a heart attack. First news that the old colonial campaigner and former high commissioner for Egypt had passed away was received with incredulity by people in all walks of life.

RENICK, SPANGLER AND DUNCAN DEFEATED, FINAL COUNT SHOWS

County Candidates for State Senate Unable to Win Enough Votes in Franklin-co; Forke's Victor

Pickaway-co just doesn't "rate" politically.

None of its candidates for district offices were elected, except William D. Radcliff, mayor of Williamsport, who is an alternate district delegate to the Cleveland Republican convention. Radcliff had no opposition.

Robert L. Immeil of Yellowbud, counted as a Pickaway-co man though he resides in Ross-co, was defeated for the Democratic nomination for congress, running third to Harold Claypool and Dr. J. M. Lantz.

Tom A. Renick, Republican candidate for the state senate, ran fourth in the primary behind Fred W. Postle, E. E. Addison and Guy Martin. Postle and Addison being the nominees. Renick received 1,125 votes in Pickaway-co and 7,730 in Franklin-co for a total of 8,855.

Postle had a total of 16,879. Addison 15,274. Martin 9,211. Sam Forney 6,572, and L. E. Borrer 4,408.

W. I. Spangler of Tarleton, running for the Democratic nomination for senate, was third in his field. Francis P. Howard and George M. Morris of Columbus winning the nominations. Spangler, former senator, trailed Morris by 92 votes.

The final unofficial count for the two counties was: Howard 15,427; Morris 14,264; Spangler 14,172, and M. R. Andrix 8,417.

Misses Jimima Dungan lost her race for state central committee-woman to Miss Josephine Justus of Lancaster by 6,725 to 9,809. Miss Dungan received 1,754 to 1,915 in Pickaway-co, but she could not cut down Miss Justus' large Fairfield-co vote.

Mayor James Ford of Chillicothe won the state central committee-running second. Ford's total was man's place with Ross Wagstaff 5,302 and Wagstaff's 3,600. Clifford gleaned 3,227. Rittenour 2,963, and St. Clair 1,166.

SIX PAPERS WIN IN TRUST FIGHT IN FEDERAL TRIAL

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 14.—(UP)—A Federal court jury late yesterday decided in favor of six Alabama daily newspapers which were charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law in a suit filed by the Alabama (Montgomery) Journal.

The jury decided the allegation of the plaintiff, charging the papers had formed a combination to offer advertising at rates that were too low to permit competition, was unfounded.

The defendant papers were the Birmingham News, the Birmingham Age-Herald, the Mobile Press, the Mobile Register, the Huntsville Times and the Montgomery Advertiser.

REV. J. W. KIRKPATRICK DIES; FUNERAL FRIDAY

Rev. James W. Kirkpatrick, 82, brother of Charles H. Kirkpatrick, E. Franklin-st., died at his home in Briggsdale near Columbus, Tuesday evening.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. in the Methodist church at Beaver Chapel, near Waverly, former home of Mr. Kirkpatrick. Mr. Kirkpatrick at one time owned a farm near South Bloomfield and is known to many Pickaway countians.

He is survived by his wife, a foster son, and three brothers, in death.

District Picks Mooney Republican For Franklin-co

Harold F. Claypool of the cotho will represent the party of the Silver groutal district in the November election, final results from all five districts are revealed Thursday.

At practically the same time that Claypool's victory was learned, the Pickaway-co of elections reported a vote error had been made in the west precinct.

E. L. Montgomery, Dr. C. H. Bowers, and Dr. J. M. Lantz were the candidates for the district.

The error was discovered by the pollsters and corrected. The final count shows Claypool with 1,467, Montgomery 1,431, and Bowers 1,431.

The Republican primary race, which resulted in the nomination of E. Mooney for 11th district, was won by Mooney with 5,302, Tom A. Renick 4,169 and Dean Hickman 2,963.

The complete Pickaway-co for committeemen and for members of the legislature will be announced Friday.

LONDON GAINING KENTUCKY VOTE

Senator Borah to Receive Only Three Delegates

CHARLESTON, W. VA., May 14.—(UP)—Candidates favoring Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas were leading today in contacts for 13 of West Virginia's 38 delegates to the Republican National Convention as counting of returns from the state's primary elections neared completion.

With about 2000 of the state's 2347 precincts tabulated, it appeared that Senate winner Senator Borah of Idaho, the only candidate entered in the Republican presidential preference primary in West Virginia, would win more than three delegate votes.

Four leading candidates for delegates-at-large, all for Landon, were A. A. Lilly, Howard Sutherland, Walter S. Hallman and Charles N. Kimball.

ZIONCHECK IN PROMISE TO CLEAN PUERTO RICO

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, May 14.—(UP)—Sen. Stephen D. White, Democrat, announced a private army to "go back and clean up Puerto Rico."

The announcement came as a surprise to many who had heard of his work on the Senate floor.

White said he had been told by a reliable source that the army would be composed of men from the Virgin Islands.

Tales

DICK PLUM, high school senior, was quite a precocious lad when he was younger. One day he was sitting in church beside his mother. A bald-headed man with long whiskers sat in front of them.

"Mother," Dick whispered, "does that man have his head on upside down?"

"A Watt's housewife has lived in the same residence for two years, in fact since she was married, and has not yet visited the cellar. The husband, it seems, keeps his secrets to himself."

Do you know any tall stories? If you do please pass them on to someone else may enjoy a laugh.

Robinson is Sentenced To Life in Federal Jail

Father Thanks Officials for Fair Treatment, Saying Son Suffered Dual Personality

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—(UP)—Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, arrives at the Atlanta federal penitentiary today to begin a life sentence.

"Keep your chin up, son," Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., said to him, "and make the best of it."

The old man, erect but sad-eyed, watched G-men drag his manacled son onto the Atlanta train last night, a few hours after he had pleaded guilty and had accepted a life sentence rather than chance a trial and a death sentence.

"What is your opinion of your son's capture and trial, sir?" Robinson, Sr., started and a vague expression crossed his face, as though his mind had been returned to reality.

Parents Not Bitter "We—his mother and I—are bitter toward no one," he said. "In fact, we think Tommy received the fairest treatment that could be hoped for. And although we love him, we know he has not been treated unjustly in any sense of the word."

"I think the words of Judge Hamilton this afternoon when he passed sentence on our boy was a perfect example of the true processes of justice. He could not have done otherwise and still discharge his duty to society."

"To what do you attribute your son's present predicament?" "My boy," said Robinson sadly, "is a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. He has a dual personality that makes him do things at odd times that he wouldn't dream of doing formally. Doctors and lawyers have a long term for it, but I can't think what it is. I call it a split-mind."

"Tommy was a good boy. He gave us no trouble until he was about 23. Then the Dr. Hyde in him began to manifest itself. From that time on, he made considerable trouble for us—when the force was at work. He was shrewd and cunning and bold. He was brave too. And for those reasons, he was able to get by with those things his 'other mind' dictated. You could see how brave he was when he took his medicine without flinching today. He'll be brave until the end too. He's a good boy now and I know he'll cause no trouble where they're taking him."

BOSTON FUNERAL SATURDAY

The funeral for Thomas Bost, 30, will be held Saturday with the body to arrive at Forest cemetery for burial at 4 o'clock. Mr. Bost is a former Norfolk & Western foreman.

JACKS BUILT TO SAVE

MAN TRAPPED IN RIVER

GREENVIEW, Ill., May 14—(UP)—James Edwards' rescue involved some hasty construction work and long distance hauling, but he was recovering today after having been trapped in a stream for 90 minutes. Edwards' tractor smashed through a bridge, pinned his legs to the bed of the stream. His wife held his head above water while neighbors summoned heavy jacks from miles away and built temporary bases on which the jacks were placed to lift the machinery from Edwards' legs.

Hastily organized posses joined in the ground search over the hilly eastern section.

Meanwhile, an investigation of the break was started by the state board of affairs. Crowded conditions at the prison were believed to have been one of the major causes of the riot.

Names of the eight ringleaders were given as Claude Beavers, leader of the plot; Bill Anderson, Archie Herring, Jess Cunningham, Julius Bohanon, Claude Fugate, Claude Puch and A. C. McArthur. All were serving terms for murder or robbery convictions.

Convicts in the brick plant were quickly subdued and marched to the main building where they were locked in their cells. After the prisoners escaped with their hostages in Gossett's automobile.

Test State Law Officers said a contributing cause to the riot might have been the state's action of Tuesday to bring its first case against a convict to test the law for sterilization of habitual criminals.

Incorrigible prisoners were worked in the brick plant.

His wife held his head above water while neighbors summoned heavy jacks from miles away and built temporary bases on which the jacks were placed to lift the machinery from Edwards' legs.

YOUNG IS GIVEN 188,235 BALLOTS AGAINST DAVEY

Borah Wins Five of Ohio's 52 Delegates in Cleveland Convention

COLUMBUS, May 14.—(UP)—Governor Martin L. Davey, in winning renomination on the Democratic ticket, had the greatest vote cast against him ever recorded against any incumbent Ohio governor seeking renomination in a primary election.

In 8074 of the state's 8579 precincts, Gov. Davey received 301,462 votes. Congressman Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, who opposed him, received 188,235, and Charles Hubbell of Cleveland was given 24,683.

With returns of Tuesday's primary almost complete, it appeared that Senator William E. Borah of Idaho had won five of Ohio's 52 delegates to the Republican national convention at Cleveland in June.

Taft Wins 38

Robert A. Taft, Ohio "favorite son" candidate, appeared to have won 39 Republican district delegates in addition to the eight delegates-at-large. Borah had entered only 35 delegate candidates in the state primary whereas Taft had a complete slate of candidates.

Backed by the state Republican organization, Taft is only a nominal candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. After the first ballot, the "favorite son" delegates are expected to swing their support to some other candidate. Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas is openly favored by many of the Taft delegates but other potential candidates also have support in Ohio.

Delegates apparently won by the Borah force were Walter R. Wanamaker and Fred R. Ormsby of Akron, 14th district; C. W. Steubenville, 18th district, and J. E. Cassidy of Cleveland, 20th district.

With the Democrats polling over 100,000 votes more than the Republicans, President Franklin D. Roosevelt received an enormous popularity vote in Ohio. In 8074 precincts, Roosevelt received 489,621 votes to 29,919 for Col. Henry Breckinridge of New York, the anti-New Deal candidate.

52 for President

All 52 delegate votes of Ohio in the Democratic national convention at Philadelphia belong to President Roosevelt.

In the November general election, Gov. Davey will be opposed by Attorney General John W. Bricker, whose was unopposed in the Republican primary.

For the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, Senator Paul P. Yoder of Eaton defeated J. Freer Bittinger of Ashland, speaker of the Ohio house. Paul M. Herbert of Columbus is the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor.

Earl Griffith, Mt. Gilead publisher, is the Republican nominee for secretary of state, and William J. Kennedy of Cleveland is his Democratic opponent.

Joseph T. Ferguson of Barberton won a six-way race for the Democratic nomination for state auditor. He will oppose the incumbent Republican, Joseph T. Tracy, who was unopposed in the primary.

State Treasurer Harry S. Day easily won Republican renomination. Clarence H. Knisley was unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

Duffy is Victor

Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus won a close race with Frazier Reams for the Democratic attorney general nomination. Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland Heights is the Republican nominee.

Successful Republican candidates for the two congressional-at-large places were George H. Dender, Cleveland Heights, and L. L. Marshall, Euclid. The Democratic nominees are John M. Sweeney, Wooster, and Harold G. Mosier, Cleveland.

The unopposed nominees for supreme court judge were William L. Hart of Alliance and Roy H. Williams of Sandusky, on the Republican ticket, and George S. Myers of East Cleveland and Will P. Stephenson of West Union on the Democratic ticket.

All present Ohio congressmen who were candidates were renominated, except Warren J. Duffy, Toledo, and William L. Pfister, Sandusky, both Democrats, who were defeated by rivals bearing the endorsement of Father Coughlin's national union for social justice. The N. U. S. J. influence appeared strong in several other congressional nominations.

ZEPPELIN SETS NEW HOME MARK

Hindenburg Flies Atlantic in Less Than 62 Hours

FRANKFORT, Germany, May 14.—(UP)—Commercial airship between Europe and the United States, a dream of many years, became an established fact today.

The dirigible Hindenburg was moored at its new home port this morning after a round trip in seven days, seven hours, 25 minutes between Germany and Lakehurst, N. J.

No sooner had the great ship been put in its hangar and its passengers, mail and cargo disposed of, than the airport crew began tuning its motors and making preparations to refuel it for the second pay-load airship in history to the United States.

Saturday night or Sunday morning, depending on the weather, the 803 foot ship will nose out westward again for Lakehurst, and four days later it is due to leave Lakehurst for Frankfort.

The Hindenburg broke all airship records for the westward and eastward flight. It flew to Lakehurst from Friedrichshafen in 61 hours 50 minutes. The old record was 95 hours 22 minutes. On its home flight, the Hindenburg arrived with its 47 passengers at 10:45 p. m. Wednesday EST, to complete its flight in 48 hours 28 minutes. The old eastward record was 55 hours 22 minutes. The great ship passed over the Irish coast last night, 36 hours out from New York City and proceeded on across England. Saturday's flight will be the second of ten Europe-United States flights this summer.

KEEPING A GOOD MAN

PICKAWAY-CO voters proved, Tuesday, that they are in favor of keeping a good man in office. Sheriff Charles Radcliff was seeking his fourth term, an unheard-of policy a number of years ago, but he came through with colors flying to defeat three capable opponents. The day of the tradition that two terms in office means the end of a man or woman politically is gone apparently. Citizens now believe that one successful term deserves another. Their vote given the popular sheriff proves that his administration has been conducted for the benefit of the nearly 30,000 persons in the county. Economy has predominated; service has been the keynote of the nearly six years Sheriff Radcliff has served. At no time of the day or night have the sheriff or his deputies refused to answer a call. The law enforcement record of the office has established is without precedent in Pickaway-co, and cannot be matched anywhere in Ohio. Not a single major unsolved crime has been committed in Pickaway-co during the six years of Sheriff Radcliff's regime. Congratulations Pickaway countians for your judgment, and congratulation to you, Sheriff Radcliff, for your ability to administer the affairs of your office.

THE PERILS OF EATING

WHEN drowsiness overtakes you along about 11 o'clock of a May morning, it is not necessarily a sign of Spring fever, nor does it mean you should have resolutely resisted the plea for "just one more rubber" at the Smiths which ended in 2 a. m. yawns and another argument. If you fall asleep at conferences don't always blame the stale air and staler speeches. It may be the cream in your coffee is more soporific than the chairman, and that what you thought was Spring fever is merely spinach. The perils of eating were described by Dr. Walter Alvarez of the Mayo Clinic. He spoke before the American Gastro-Enterological Association in Atlantic City, where the perils of eating were thought to consist only of picking up the chick for a chicken sandwich at a night club. Dr. Alvarez recounted his experience with a businessman who had been in the expensive hands of psychiatrists for eight or nine years. Placed on an elimination diet for the hives, the businessman was actually cured

MUSSOLINI TO BUILD ARMY

WASHINGTON—Mussolini's secret war plans call for training a new Ethiopian Army, 300,000 strong, made up from the followers of Emperor Haile Selassie. According to reports cabled by American military attaches abroad, Mussolini was impressed by the military prowess of his adversaries, thinks that if reinforced with poison gas and airplanes they would be the equal of a European army.

The plan is to make each Ethiopian prince (prince) a division commander, thus playing upon his vanity and welding him closer to Fascism. Field Marshal Badoglio will return to command Italy's European forces, while General Graziani, long experienced as commander of colonial tribesmen, will head Italy's new Black Army.

At this rate the next war may see French Senegalese, Italian Ethiopians and British Sikhs doing all the fighting, while white men direct operations from the rear.

SENATE POET

Here is another poem which Jesse H. Metcalf, millionaire Senator from Rhode Island, has sent to The Sheboygan Weekly, "World's Smallest Newspaper";

"I thank my God the sun and the moon are both stuck up so high,
That no presumptuous hand can stretch
And pluck them from the sky.

"If they were not, I do believe
That some reforming ass
Would recommend to take them down
And light the world with gas."

ANOTHER TRY

Echoes of this row had barely subsided, when the Council's Committee on Trade Practices brought in a report that renewed the battle all over again.

The Committee recommended that the Council adopt a set of rules of fair trade practices and circulate it among the business men of the country together with a formal pledge, under which the business men would bind themselves to abide by the regulations.

The proposed rules were of a mild character, copied from similar rules in NRA and Federal Trade Commission codes. But again the Council balked.

It refused to approve the Committee's rules or its plan. Instead, a "compromise" proposal was adopted. The Committee could, if it wished, send out a list of fair trade practices—but only as ITS suggestions!

World At A Glance

GOV. HERBERT H. LEHMAN of New York is in an odd position—for a banker. He has been trying to put through liberal legislation, and both Tammany Democrats and Old Guard Republicans have ganged up on him and defeated his program. Thus a banker, who happens to be governor, battles the side on which bankers customarily are supposed to be.

Stranger still, liberals do not count Governor Lehman as one of them. They wish for a "stronger, more liberal" man in the governor's mansion in Albany.

Yet, in spite of this opposition from both sides, Governor Lehman probably will be re-elected—he is counted as an uncanny vote getter—and his program will go through eventually.

TWO FRIENDS

Governor Lehman has two powerful friends—President Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith. The governor succeeded President Roosevelt. And he is said to have given the most toward Al Smith's presidential ventures.

But he seems to have a power himself that does not depend on powerful friendships. He has phenomenon of a banker placing himself to a practical solution of social problems.

DEFEATED

The New York legislature has defeated this important one on so-called child labor laws, which would permit children to participate in the law; enforce law reforms, and of the child labor

LEHMAN'S PLEA

Governor Lehman, pleading for state, is suffering from over-representation from some districts and underrepresentation from many others. The overrepresented districts are in the hands of Tammany and the Republican Old Guard. And those two groups, holding the balance of power, will not redistrict themselves.

UNIQUE FIGURE

Another unique figure in New York is U. S. Senator F. Wagner. Although Senator Wagner is a member of Tammany, and Tammany is proud of him, he is considered one of the foremost liberals in the United States. He is termed an "idealist" by his political friends. Even President Roosevelt "lets him talk," but doesn't push the Wagner measures very hard, so the gossip goes.

But all the while Senator Wagner is gaining a tremendous following. He never can become president, for he was born in Germany (having been brought over as a child). He can, however, exert a powerful influence.

It is interesting to observe that Senator Wagner, whose housing bill now is having hard stalling, continues to make predictions of reforms.

Senator Wagner predicts passage of New Deal legislation to regulate wages, to provide minimum labor standards, to inaugurate government health insurance, to have relief responsibility definitely placed on the government, to make complete employment surveys, and to extend public health and child welfare services.

his social security program, defied the opposition by making a "practical" plea in these terms:

"The social security program of the state brings our state laws into conformity with the federal act. The program will bring to the state and its municipalities about $20,000,000 of federal moneys.

"Through these federal grants and through a very moderate state appropriation which will be much more than offset by direct savings to our municipalities we will be able to help hundreds of thousands of our needy, aged, sick, crippled and blind, through the following services:

"1. Provide financial assistance to dependent children.

"2. Extend old age assistance to men and women who reach the age of 65 years.

"3. Establish a state-wide system of financial and other assistance to the blind.

"4. Initiate services for the health of mothers and children, especially in rural areas.

"5. Establish and maintain adequate public health services.

"6. Provide medical, surgical, corrective services and care for crippled children.

"7. Promote local child welfare services, especially in rural areas.

"8. Expand vocational rehabilitation of the physically disabled.

"Can there possibly be any sound objection to our doing this? Can there possibly be any valid opposition to such a program?

"It is inconceivable to me that any one should want to defeat a bill of such tremendous social consequences."

CHAPTER 46

A STEADY file of detectives followed into Keyes' office. First one of the men who had been guarding the Van Every house. He reported that McManus had not left the house. That Mr. Van Every had returned only a few moments ago, that Soon had not been out of the house all day. Neither had any of the other servants. Van Every of course had gone and come. Several women had been there during the noon hour, applicants for the position of companion to Miss Joyce Van Every.

We knew all that. The next informant made us both alert. Keyes had assigned Roscoe to get details on Edith Bryce's life after I had told my story that afternoon. He had not had time to complete his report in the short time he had been out, but he had come back with plenty for Keyes to start on.

Mrs. Bryce, he told us, had lived in her present house five years. She had bought it then, and it being a single house, had had it renovated and practically built over into separate apartments. She, as we knew, occupied the parlor floor, and also had the basement floor, where her kitchen and dining room were, and where her own servant, a colored maid, slept. On the parlor floor were the sitting room and Mrs. Bryce's bedroom. She seemed to have plenty of money, in fact bought everything she wanted. Her accounts were with the finest stores on Fifth avenue. She seldom had visitors. Seemed not to have many friends, and did not miss them. One man in particular visited her occasionally, her lawyer, so one of her tenants, who was Roscoe's chief informant, said. At least that was what Mrs. Bryce told her. This same tenant, of about the same age as Mrs. Bryce, lonely, too, and with some money, had tried very hard when she had taken the apartment four years ago to cultivate her landlady's friendship. She felt that the two ladies had many things in common and that they would be most congenial. Mrs. Bryce had very evidently repulsed all this woman's advances, so that they still to this day remained only the most casual of friends. This tenant had invited Mrs. Bryce for meals in her apartment many times during the first few months of her occupancy, and Mrs. Bryce had always refused. After that the tenant, having found other companionable souls, had desisted. This tenant also had a maid who did not live in the house. However, the maid was very friendly with Mrs. Bryce's girl, so she occasionally gleaned bits of gossip about her landlady.

That this woman was a mine of information, Keyes saw at once, so he sent Roscoe scurrying out for her. Fortunately she was at home, and Roscoe returned with her, much to our delight. She was, as Roscoe had said, about the same age as Mrs. Bryce, and she repeated practically everything she had said to the detective.

Mrs. Taft was her name. Mrs. Bryce, so far as she was concerned, was a mysterious woman. A woman who had so few friends, who never entertained, was mysterious to Mrs. Taft. The lawyer her Della told about, prompted by Mrs. Bryce's Manda? Lawyer, indeed! Yet, Mrs. Bryce had all the money she wanted, and this fall had a new sable coat, the most beautiful one Mrs. Taft had ever seen. Van Every was the lawyer's name, a nice-looking, white-haired man, aristocratic looking, polite. Mrs. Taft had often met him on the stairs, and he had always bowed graciously.

At the present time the apartment on the third floor was empty, leaving Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Bryce the only tenants in the building. And so far as Mrs. Taft could see Mrs. Bryce had made no attempt to rent it. Rather funny. It had been empty for three months. No advertising in the paper, no sign in front. Twice friends of Mrs. Taft's had spoken for it, and twice Mrs. Taft had come, and Mrs. Bryce about it, only to be told that she was holding the place for someone who was abroad.

Once in desperation Mrs. Taft had at the last minute begged Mrs. Bryce to fill in at a bridge table. Some guest had refused at the last minute. Now Mrs. Taft would have done this willingly for Mrs. Bryce. Only too willingly. Yet Mrs. Bryce, knowing how her tenant was fixed, had refused. Hard to get people at the last minute, too. One would think...

"Did Mrs. Taft by any chance see Mrs. Bryce leave her house now and then?"

Yes, she did. She couldn't help but notice, living in the same house and all that.

Keyes was excessively polite to her, and Mrs. Taft bloomed under the treatment.

During the last day or so there had been—well, men one man in particular, hanging about the house. He seemed to be watching Mrs. Bryce. She couldn't imagine what Mrs. Bryce had done.

Monday night had Mrs. Taft noticed Mrs. Bryce leaving the house? "Mrs. Taft thought a while. Monday night? Monday night? That was the night she had gone to the theater, and had come home about midnight. She remembered there was a light in Mrs. Bryce's apartment when she had come in. But she couldn't say whether Mrs. Bryce had gone out.

"Mrs. Taft hadn't noticed her go out after she herself came in?" "No, she hadn't. As she remembered she went straight to bed. Mrs. Bryce had gone abroad last year and had stayed for four months. Della said she was getting ready now to go to Florida. Manda had told Della this. She would leave any day.

"Keyes picked up his ears at that, and gave me a broad smile.

"Had Mrs. Taft heard her maid say anything about a ruby. That is, had Mrs. Bryce's Manda said anything about a ruby to Della? Mrs. Taft didn't know anything about it. Mrs. Bryce had a beautiful diamond bracelet, new, which had been given her a few months ago for her birthday.

Did Mrs. Bryce confide freely in her maid, Manda?"

No, she didn't. Told her practically nothing. Della was sure of this. But Manda liked Mrs. Bryce very much, and received high wages for the amount of work she did.

Wednesday afternoon—what about Wednesday afternoon?"

She was just going to tell Captain Keyes. Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Bryce had had a queer visitor. Mrs. Taft had happened to be in the lower hall, being the mail, when a little woman in gray, Mrs. Bryce's bell. She had smiled at Mrs. Taft and when the bell wasn't answered at once, rang again.

Mrs. Taft, as she remembered, had told this woman that she thought Mrs. Bryce was in. Finally, Manda opened the door and the woman had one in Mrs. Taft, of course, got her mail and went upstairs.

A woman in gray? Yes, with a pink rose on her hat glasses, rather an old-fashioned person. Not stylish like Mrs. Bryce. Indeed, Mrs. Taft had thought the woman out of place. Perhaps she was one of Mrs. Bryce's many early girlhood friends.

Keyes pulled a picture from his desk and tossed it to Mrs. Taft. "Was this the woman you saw Wednesday afternoon?"

Mrs. Taft delightedly identified the picture, a poor one of Laura Randall, but the only one he had been able to find. That was the woman, all right, Mrs. Taft agreed.

What time had she come? Around 4, Mrs. Taft thought. Yes, certainly around 4, because that was the time of the last mail delivery and Mrs. Taft, when she was home, always went downstairs at that time. Laura Randall visited Edith Bryce the day of her death! Poor little Laura! Four o'clock she had seen Edith Bryce. At 10 minutes to 6 she was dead in her taxi.

No wonder she had smiled at me, eager to tell me something, bursting with news which I gave her no opportunity to tell. The appointment she had made for the next day. The appointment she had stressed, never to keep. Ten o'clock in Captain Keyes' office. Remember.

Could I ever forget? I blamed myself more and more for her death. If I had only been more congenial. If only I had ridden farther with her in the taxi, as far as Van Every's house. She might have lived. At least she would have been safe.

Why had she gone to see Edith Bryce? "I'll have something to tell you," she had said. And I, poor fool, tired from my walk, had not pressed her to tell me then. On her own she had gone to Mrs. Bryce. Did she suspect her? She must have, else she would not have gone. Laura Randall solving the mystery of Margalo's death. Dying herself.

Laura Randall wearing the ruby when she went into Edith Bryce's house. Bravely wearing the ruby. Perhaps she had shown it to Mrs. Bryce. I had thought, when I knew she was dead, that what she had to tell Keyes and me was about the ruby, perhaps her courage in wearing it. Now, she must have had something else to tell, too. Something she had drawn from Edith Bryce. Yet, from her conversation, what little of it there was, she hoped to find out something more.

Washington-twp Juniors Host to Senior Class

Country Club Scene of Pretty Party; Faculty Present

On Wednesday evening, the members of the junior class of the Washington-twp high school delightedly entertained with a banquet honoring the members of the senior class, twelve in number.

The affair was given at the Pickaway Country club where the long table was very attractively laid for the dinner, having in the center a large bowl of pink tea roses. At each place were miniature lamps supporting small candles which when lighted shed a soft glow, adding to the beauty of the appointments.

Covers were laid for the seniors, the juniors and members of the faculty, and at the places were clever verses, characteristic of each. The colors of the senior class, black and white, were carried out in all the decorations.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Maynard Matz, president of the junior class, who welcomed the seniors. The response was given by Richard Elliott, president of the senior class. Following this were brief remarks by Carl Bennett, superintendent, and Forest Croman, a junior. The rest of the evening was spent in games and contests.

Members of the graduating class are Eugene Barthelmas, Edith Valantine, Lewis Hitler, Doris Chester, Eileen Brown, Myrtle McDaniel, Sophia Peters, Thomas Reichelderfer, Richard Elliott, Charles McWhorter, Bernard Matz, and Evelyn Carr, who was unable to attend.

The junior class members, responsible for the success of the banquet, are Maynard Matz, Forest Croman, Ralph Dittz, William Goode, Modie Allen, Dorothy Dresbach, Margaret List and Esther Davis.

All the high school teachers were present including Mr. Bennett, A. W. Boyer, principal, Miss Mary Rader, Miss Selena Adams and Loren Straight.

This class of 12 is the largest ever graduate from the Washington-twp school.

Pomona Grange

The Pomona Grange meeting will be held at the Washington-twp school Saturday, May 16. The affair will be an all day meeting which starts at 10:30 o'clock. A good attendance is desired.

Miss Trump Hostess

A pleasant evening was enjoyed Wednesday by the members of her bridge club when they gathered at the home of Miss Magdalene Trump, E. Union-st., for an evening of auction. Three tables were in play with prizes for high scores going to Mrs. Anna Ritt and Miss Martha Crist. Miss Helen Rowe was winner of the traveling prize.

Miss Florence Hoffman will be hostess to the club in two weeks.

Willing Worker's

The Willing Worker's Sunday school class of the Pontius U. B. church will meet at the home of Mrs. Creation Kraft, Washington-twp, at 2 p. m. Friday. The hostess will be assisted by her daughter.

Miss McEwing honored

Miss Charlotte McEwing, E. Main-st., has had the honor of being placed on the rules committee for the convention of the Business and Professional Women's club, which convenes in Toledo, May 23 and 24.

Mother's Day Banquet

A lovely affair was the Mother's Day banquet held by the Luther League of the Trinity Lutheran church Tuesday evening at the parish house.

The delicious dinner was served at long tables centered with large bouquets of yellow tulips and iris. Pink and white streamers were suspended from large crepe paper wheels fastened to the ceiling. The nut cups were pink carnations.

Eighty-four guests were present.

Rev. George Troutman acted as toastmaster. Miss Mary Seal extended the welcome to Mothers with a response by Mrs. Mary County merchants were informed Wednesday morning applications for cigarette licenses must be filed in the auditor's office before May 25.

CONCRETE POOL WORK STARTED IN SCIPPO PARK

The new concrete swimming pool in Scippo Park, Route 23, will be completed by June 25 and will be formally opened on July 4.

Forms for the pool have been completed and the contractors, Brewer and Brewer, Chillicothe, expect to start pouring concrete Friday morning. The pool is 110 by 70 feet. It will be 9½ feet deep at one end and two feet deep at the other. A wading pool for kids, one foot deep, will be placed at the shallow end.

The pool is located near the dance pavilion. By the use of a power excavator only 22 hours' time was required to dig the pool. Water for the pool will be obtained from a drilled well and pumped over a falls 20 by 14 feet. A modern purification plant will be installed.

Finishing touches are being made on the rustic lodge, the dance hall is nearing completion and arrangements will be made to open these buildings in the early part of June.

Twenty-four men are employed in the park.

Alfred G. Finch, Jack R. Dennis, Lewis T. Reid, and Homer Nichols.

Commencement exercises will be held in the Deer creek and Salt creek-twp schools Thursday evening.

Seniors to Present Class Play 2 Days Next Week

"The Swan" to Be Shown Wednesday and Friday, Miss Vierebome Having Leading Part

With only a week remaining until the first presentation of the Senior class play, "The Swan," the Senior Thespians have been working diligently to make their show a success.

The title role is to be portrayed by Anne Vierebome. Miss Vierebome was also the leading lady in the Junior class play last year. George Rader and Richard Harman will be the main supporters of Miss Vierebome. George Rader takes the role of "Prince Albert" and Richard Harman will be seen in the character of "Dr. Nicholas Agi," a teacher.

Mary Elizabeth Groce and Burn Jones also portray two main roles; Miss Groce, taking the part of "Beatrice," the mother of "Alexandra" which is portrayed by Anne Vierebome and Jones portraying the role of "Father Hyacinth," a priest.

Dick Plum holds down the comedy of the play in his role of Caesar, the head butler. He is always being given orders that are very difficult to carry out and when he makes a mistake he shall either "kill himself or die of mortification."

Hilaire Haecker, Ned Harden, Fred Grant, Anne Thatcher, Ellen Clark and Charles Styers make up the rest of the main cast. There are a few minor parts in the play which are taken by other seniors.

This play, which is about royal European life, was an immediate success on Broadway when Eva La Galliene and Basil Rathbone played in it and although it has only been used recently by amateur groups, it has always been deemed a success.

Tickets for the production went on sale Monday and can be purchased from any member of the senior class. Because of the great demand for tickets the last few days a large crowd is expected to attend the play which is to be given Wednesday and Friday, May 20 and 22.

The director of the play is Roy Bowen and his assistant is Miss Evelyn Wolfe.

TWO UNDER ARREST

Howard Ackley, 45, of Frankfort, was arrested by police Wednesday night for being drunk and disorderly. A Walnut youth was arrested for investigation of a disorderly report. Charges may be filed Thursday, officers said.

FRAZIER - LEMKE MEASURE LOSES

House Turns Down Inflation Action, 235 to 142

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(UP)—House inflationists came back from a stunning defeat on the Frazier-Lemke bill today to lay plans for carrying the issue into the campaign.

Rep. William Lemke, R., N. D., and Rep. Wright Patman, D., Tex., predicted the major fight in the next congress would be that of currency expansion and that inflationist ranks would be increased in the November national election. Lemke said he would personally go into congressional districts to help elect supporters of his bill.

Congressional Democratic leaders, jubilant over their smashing victory, which brought defeat of the farm inflation bill 235 to 142, said they considered that the vote demonstrated definitely that the house is opposed to inflation.

Defeat of the bill killed the last chance of currency expansionists to force house action on legislation this session. Some of the onus of inflation was removed from the bill by the bloc before it was voted on. But the revision, requiring the potential $3,000,000,000 in new federal reserve notes for farm mortgage refinancing purposes, to have the same backing as present reserve notes, made no difference. Opponents voted against the measure on anti-inflation grounds.

House leaders credited Democratic party whip Patrick Boland, D., Penn., with engineering the bill's defeat.

STONE THROWN FROM QUARRY KILLS YOUTH

COLUMBUS, May 14.—(UP)—Robert Blair, 13, was fatally hurt when a chunk of stone blasted from a quarry more than a block away dropped through the top of an automobile and struck his head. Three others in the car were unhurt. A blood transfusion was given by the local hospital. Blair, the stone which struck Robert weighed 25 pounds.

HERO OF MINE RESCUE KILLED IN EXPLOSION

STELLARTON, N. S., May 14.—(UP)—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Joseph B. Campbell, 27, one of the crew of miners who risked their lives to rescue Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding from the Moose River gold mine three weeks ago. Campbell was killed in a coal mine here yesterday when he was struck by a string of loaded coal cars.

He was one of the crew of dragoons who broke through the last barrier separating rescue workers from the entombed men. He had just returned from a vaudeville trip to Boston and yesterday was his second day back at the mine.

PASTOR, WIFE INJURED IN WRECK

U. B. MINISTER DRIVES MACHINE INTO LARGE POLE

Both Suffer Fractures and
Are Taken to White Cross Hospital

A former Circleville minister and his wife were treated in White Cross hospital, Columbus Wednesday for injuries suffered in an automobile collision. They were Rev. and Mrs. Walter F. Rutherford, 1009 Oakwood-ave, Columbus.

Mrs. Rutherford, whose condition is reported "fair," suffered fractures of the leg and jaw and lacerations.

Rev. Rutherford has a broken nose and body bruises. His condition is good.

The Rutherford automobile struck a utility pole at Main-st and Bule-ave, Columbus. They were driving west on Mound-st, following a truck driven by Edward Montgomery of Norwood. The truck turned onto Bule-ave and the minister swerved his car to avoid striking it.

Rev. Rutherford is pastor of Wagner Memorial United Brethren church, Columbus. He served as pastor of the Circleville United Brethren church for several years, and has scores of friends in this city and county.

The pastor and his wife are both 51.

RENT AREA DATA TO BE PROVIDED BY OHIO SURVEY

COLUMBUS, May 14.—Completion of the WPA real property inventory in Ohio will provide valuable data on rent areas, living accommodations and a wide range of other subjects of interest to property owners, civic leaders and sociologists alike, according to Dr. Carl Watson, Ohio WPA Administrator. More than 1,200 workers are employed and funds totaling $450,000 were approved for the projects, which operate in 12 Ohio cities.

E. J. Bennett, State Supervisor of Professional and Research projects, stated that original inventories conducted throughout the nation have proved of inestimable work. He cited Cleveland as an example of a city where real property inventories have given a comprehensive picture of the status of local living conditions and properties.

"This information is valuable to the social worker in combating slum problems, as well as to the industrialist in ascertaining the needs and buying power of his community," Mr. Bennett said.

Real property inventories are being conducted in Ashtabula, Youngstown, Akron, Canton, Alliance, Lima, Columbus, Salem, Steubenville, Massillon, Portsmouth and Marion, cities ranging from 12,000 to 350,000 in population.

In the last three months inventory workers have coded 95 per cent of the city blocks, classifying each dwelling unit. A survey showing the amount of land in permanent or temporary use and the amount in disuse is more than half finished. Statistical results of the survey will soon be available to local sponsors. City governments, realty boards, county commissioners, chambers of commerce and business firms are among the sponsors who have manifested interest in the survey.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 2 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent urination, passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

Take Your Medicine, Spanky!

IT WAS measles and you can see for yourself that Spanky McFarland the star of "Our Gang" comedies, feels the same way about taking his medicine as the remainder of you youngsters. Scene is in Detroit, where the juvenile movie actor "took down" with the measles. He left for Cleveland shortly after this photo was taken, and he didn't take his medicine along.

THREE COUNTIES DRAFT REA PLAN

Steeley, Head, Macklin, Blair
Attend Meeting

Pickaway-co's rural electrification committee will go to Lancaster Thursday evening to work out arrangements for a tri-county co-operative organization with representatives of Fairfield and Perry-cos.

If organization arrangements are completed at the meeting, officers will be named and the committee will make arrangements for membership and rights-of-way drives.

Marvin Steeley, Washington-twp, is chairman of the county group. Other members are Ralph Head, Pickaway-twp, and D. W. Macklin, Saltercoek-twp. E. K. Blair, county extension agent, plans to attend the meeting.

Many Ohio counties have formed co-operative groups for rural electrification.

Library Notice

Two books on the industrial and business ethics of the United States have just been received by the Circleville Public Library as gifts—one, "Industrial America," by Arthur Pound, is from the Atlantic Monthly Company, and is composed of a series of articles published in the Atlantic Monthly Magazine during 1935 and 1936, the other book "America Strikes Back" has been received through the courtesy of The Chemical Foundation, Inc., its author is Gustavus Myers, author of a number of social and political histories.

The twelve articles comprising "Industrial America; its way of work and thought" is an interpretation of American industry, based on case studies of outstanding corporations, representative of organizations legally regarded as bloodless and soulless in their methods of operation. Chosen as representative in their different fields, General Motors, United States Steel, Goodyear, General Electric, Libby-Owens-Ford, Continental Can, Standard Oil, General Mills, Kimberly-Clark, Johns-Manville, National Dairy and the Norton Company, are shown working under the varied responsibilities of employee welfare, marketing problems, and forward-looking plans and policies.

Mr. Myers' book strikes back at America's critics, and is a comparative study in public morals, comforting to those who like to find the other fellow worse than himself. Other than justifying wrong - doings by the faults of others, no special defense is given. The book shows study of the foreign commentators on the United States and gives the reader something to think about.

APPLIANCE DISPLAY OF ELECTRICAL FIRM OPENS

The second annual Electrical Appliance show of the Southern Ohio Electric Co. opened Thursday. It continues through Saturday in the E. Main-st room of the company.

Every day a roaster, Silax coffee maker and pin-up lamp will be given away. On Saturday the grand prizes, a General Electric mixer and floor lamp will be given away. Sealed bids are being received for a range, refrigerator and ironer with the appliances to be sold to the highest bidders.

REVENUE SMALL FROM NEW OHIO USE TAX LEVY

Money Collected in Four Months on Goods Bought
Outside is $40,300

COLUMBUS, May 14.—(UP)—The Ohio use tax law, which in effect levies a three per cent sales tax on goods purchased outside the state, has brought approximately $46,300 into the treasury during the first four months of its operation, the state tax commission reveals.

When the cost of administration is deducted from the proceeds, the remainder will go into the state public school fund. Although the exact administrative costs are not available now, it is believed the use tax will yield a comparatively small revenue. The law was enacted by the legislature late in 1935 to supplement the Ohio sales tax on articles purchased in the state. The use tax was designed to prevent the state from losing tax revenues on articles purchased outside Ohio but consumed or stored in Ohio.

Law Expires Next March

The use tax law became effective Jan. 1, 1936. It will expire on March 31, 1937, unless re-enacted by the legislature.

The three per cent tax is levied in the same manner as the sales tax; one cent for a purchase of from 9 to 40 cents; two cents for a purchase of from 41 to 70 cents; three cents for a purchase of from 71 cents to $1.08.

State tax commission officials have indicated that the use tax law is directed at firms or other large purchasers buying supplies outside Ohio and thereby escaping the sales tax. It also seeks to prevent the purchase of automobiles outside Ohio to escape the sales tax.

Applies to Individuals

Although the law is applicable to individuals, small purchasers in

MADISON ACTIVE IN INCREASE OF BEEF IN STATE

COLUMBUS, May 14.—Interest in the production of beef calves for feeders is increasing among Ohio farmers especially in Madison-co where Lyman F. Baker, county agricultural agent, reports cost records on 14 herds of beef cattle.

The production of beef works well with the new program of soil conservation as the cattle are grown out on pasture land that would erode badly if it were used for producing crops. The cattle require very little grain as the ratio of soil-depleting crops on the farm can be kept low.

The Madison-co records show all three popular beef breeds, Angus, Shorthorn, and Herefords, being used. Last year the 14 Madison county herds produced 337 calves which averaged 477 pounds in weight at weaning time. Five of the herds had a 100 per cent calf crop.

Most of the calves do not leave Madison county when they are ready to be fattened for market but are placed in the lots of farmers who make a specialty of fattening beef cattle. Sixty farmers of the county recently spent a day visiting various farms where cattle are being fed to learn the various methods used by experienced feeders in fattening beefs.

The difference in feeding methods is well illustrated by the variations in the rapidly with which the animals gain weight. The average daily gains for the cattle in the herds varied from 1.56 pounds to 2.75 pounds.

most cases have not been forced to pay the use tax.

Any articles purchased outside the state for resale in Ohio is exempt from the use tax, of course, because that article eventually would be subject to the sales tax.

To prevent evasion of the tax, the tax commission studies invoices, bills-of-lading and other records of shipments in Ohio. Various fines may be assessed for violation of the law.

Olsen, Wheeler to Aid Shutta on Saturday

Current Series to Be Presented; Beautiful Girls Seek to Be Frank Fay's Stogie

George Olsen and Ethel Shutta will have two guest stars in their Celebrity Night broadcast on Saturday, May 16, a dramatic comedy which sometimes goes in for comedy, and a comedian who goes in for comedy. They are Joan Blondell and Bert Wheeler. With Olsen, band and Miss Shutta as singing star, they will come to WEAF-NBC microphone at 9:30 p. m. (EST) for the last broadcast in the current Celebrity Night series.

Humor will be the mood of the evening with the blonde Miss Blondell teaming up with Wheeler. The latter is a member of the famous Wheeler-Woolsey team of the screen.

Songs by Ethel Shutta will fit with the tempo of the guest star team and include one or two of the novelties for which she is best known on the air. George Olsen will lead his band in accompaniments for the songs, in current dance hits and also act as master of ceremonies.

SEEKS STOOGES

Sixteen characters in search of an author crowded around Frank Olsen at his last broadcast from NBC Hollywood studios. They were sixteen girls who wanted to be on the radio and they all wanted to be a stogie in Frank Olsen's act. Nobody got the job. Frank hasn't used a feminine stogie yet in the Saturday night "Frank Fay Calling" show although he has used two members of Eddie Kay's orchestra in that capacity—the bull fiddle and viola players. The other stogues were left in from the outside.

The sixteen girls have threatened to picket the studio every week until the broadcast over a WEAF-NBC network at 8 p. m. of them says she will come next week with a banner reading "Frank Fay is unfair to stogie stogues."

But they could get out of Frank's act. Frank is a laconic: "Sorry, just a one-man show." The former Fay stogie who was good in the big time is Patsy, star of the screen and Broadway revues. Patsy worked with him in vaudeville.

Short wave enthusiasts may be pleased to learn that Frank is now on the air an hour later at night. "Sunday stogie" radio dance orchestra stogie for "playing it sweet."

On May 24 the NBC Children's program will celebrate its twelfth anniversary. Milton Cross, veteran announcer, announced the Children's Hour program when it first began the air waves and still is. Jack Hylton, Continental president of France. He made his theatrical debut at the age of seven, as a boy singer. Men who script writers greatly outnumber women writers in the field. Fred Astaire will appear for his first radio series next autumn, sponsored by an automotive concern.

In World of Entertainment

BOBBY BREEN, the precocious eight-year-old youngster, who played the role of Eddie Cantor's adopted son in Eddie's network series, is pictured with his sister, Sally, age 18, who has also appeared in Cantor broadcasts.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

That curious mixture of contradictions—of childish mischievous pranks, deep-rooted emotions and innate honesty—which goes to make up the average boy has been brought to the screen of the Cliftona theatre in all its compelling truth in "Too Many Parents," which opened last night on same bill with "Soak the Rich."

"Too Many Parents" tells the story of four boys, typical of hundreds of thousands the country over, who, for one reason or another, have been deprived of the most precious birthright of all children—the love and guidance, the tender affection and instruction of their parents.

Colman Military Academy, on the outskirts of New York City, is their home—Clarence Talbot, Jr., heir to ten million dollars, is an orphan, with a Board of Trustees for parents. Clinton Meadows' parents, divorced, have each remarried, and neither has room for him. Phil Stewart's father, a world-roaming engineer, has never seen him; Phil's mother died in giving him birth. Billy Miller is the son of a vaudeville song-and-dance team which quarrels too much to give him any affection.

DIE TEN MEET TO DRAW STARS MAY 22 AND 23

Numerous Olympic Hopes to Participate; Owens, Ellinwood, Lash Aces

COLUMBUS, May 14. — It is doubtful if any track meet in the country have more Olympic possibilities on the same cinders at one time than thirty-sixth annual Western Conference championships May 22 and 23 at Ohio State University.

With the possible exception of the pole vault there will be candidates for a trip to Berlin in every one of the remaining 14 events. With the graduation of Verne McDermott of Northwestern several seasons ago the Big Ten has been more or less weak in the vaulting and no one is in sight this year.

In the sprints one of the ace contenders will be Ohio State's Jesse Owens with Sam Stoller of Michigan, Bobby Grieve of Illinois and one or two others.

Ellinwood Star

The conference has rarely had a quarter-mile better than Ray Ellinwood of Chicago. However, this lad will receive plenty of competition from Carleton Crowell of Wisconsin, Winslow Heg of Northwestern, and Stan Birleson of Michigan, all Olympic possibilities.

In the half mile Charley Beecham of Ohio State is ranked as No. 1 prospect but John Fleming of Northwestern and Glendinning of Purdue both have a chance to qualify for the games with a slight improvement over their current listed performances.

The Western Conference has a one distance man likely to command national attention, Don Lash of Indiana. He has been clocked at 4:34.4 in the mile and 9:10.6 for the two mile. In the latter event Wayne Slocum of Minnesota figures to give the Hoosier a great run for his money.

Owens stands head and shoulders above the broad jump field on the strength of his world record performance last spring in this same at Ann Arbor.

There are two capable hurdle contenders in Jack Kellner of Wisconsin and Dan Caidemeyer of Indiana. And speaking of hurdles don't forget Owens again if Coach Larry Snyder chooses to run him in the lows.

Minnesota and Wisconsin have the best shot putters in Freimuth and Christianson while the former, along with Etchells of Michigan, are expected to cut quite a figure in the discus throw.

Iowa has the Big Ten's best javelin throwers in Mark Panther and a sophomore named Lamb, winner in most of the Hawks dual meets this spring.

Many High Jumpers

The high jump field is led by Dave Albritton and Melvin Walker, both of Ohio State. Bob Riegel of Illinois and Caidemeyer, the Hoosier hurdler who can also get off the ground.

About This And That In Many Sports

Landrum Boys Ready

Jack Landrum and his crew of boys signed up to vacation in northern Michigan in June are ready for their trip—They leave on June 8—Whether there will be a second trip is not certain, the coach said today, after declaring last week that it looked like a double-journey would be necessary—including in the list of youths who will make the trip are Millard Good, Robert Griner, Robert Betts, Richard Moon, David Glick, Loring Norris, Hulse Hays Jr., Howard Orr Jr., Robert Bowsher, Ned Harden, James Moffitt, Dick Plum, Philip Moore, William Heffner, Robert Trump, James Trimmer, Richard Weldon, Lewis Cooper, Gerald Melvin, Clark Hunsicker Jr., Jack Lemon, Jack Funk, Bud Gilt, Edwin Bach Jr., Bobby Fickard, James Price, David Jackson, Jack Russell, and Art Rooney.

Owen New Slugger

Third Baseman Marvin Owen of the Tigers, who will be remembered as an almost certain out every time he came to bat during the last world series, hit two home runs in the 134 games he played last season. . . this year he clouted three homers in two days, two of them in succession.

Pitchers say Owen likes to hit a high ball inside. . . two of his strange series of homers were down his favorite alley. . . the third one was a curve that broke over the middle, waist high.

Owen's Detroit teammates say he has saved off his bat and stands closer to the plate this year. But here's another odd thing about Owen. . . ordinarily his fielding at third is 100 per cent. . . this year he has been booting balls hit slightly to his right. . . scribes who noticed his fumbling asked him about it. . . and Owen can offer no better explanation for that than he can give an excuse for those sudden, brutal home runs. . . maybe it's the way he holds his mouth.

Foxx Playful

Jimmy Foxx is an ardent night clubber. . . but not in the Max Baer way. . . the Red Sox socker goes early and usually manages to leave before midnight. . . he dotes on dancing and music and likes the lights. . . in a tuxedo Foxx still makes a very boyish appearance. . . young man just graduating out to see life in the raw, and not knowing quite what to expect.

British turf writers have hauled out their best and worst adjectives to describe Omaha. . . the son of Gallant Fox, last year's Kentucky Derby winner, is pretty sure to be a favorite June 18 in the Ascot Gold Cup race. . . his chances to accomplish what Reigh Count, another great Derby winner, couldn't quite do several years ago are deemed excellent.

GRIFFITH RUNS IN AREA EVENT

Tiger Hurdler to Defend Central District Title

John Griffith, stellar Circleville hurdler, will defend his central district title Saturday in the district track and field meet at Delaware.

Griffith last year broke the mark set several years previous by Jack Keller, now an Olympic prospect. He will face stiff opposition this year since several Columbus schools boast fast men.

The hurdler, who enters the 220-yard low and the 120-yard high events, will probably be the only Circleville athlete to take part. Everett Landman, New Holland ace, may participate in the class E contests.

are placed at 12 to 1 against Horton Smith and Lighthouse Harry Cooper. . . favorite of the pros is Henry Picard, against whom the books quote 15 to 1. . . if you like 15 to 1 you can have Johnny Revolta, Gene Sarazen, Olin Dutra, or Craig Wood. . . Denny Shute, Ray Mangrum and Paul Runyan are 18 to 1.

How about the young man who won the title last year at Oakmont? . . . that would be Sam Parks of Pittsburgh, and he's 40 to 1. . . quaters figure he won the championship on his home course, and can't repeat. . . which brings to mind a crack by Walter Hagen, "Anybody can win the national open—once!"

BIRDS ANNOUNCE NIGHT SCHEDULE TO OPEN JUNE 5

COLUMBUS, May 14. — The night game schedule for the Red Birds was announced today by President Donald E. Beach and includes one game under the lights with each of the seven American Association clubs in addition to a special July 4th program that will carry past the daylight hours.

Inaugurating the night schedule will be the St. Paul game of Friday, June 5. This, incidentally, will be the first game at home following a brief swing around the Eastern half of the American Association on the books for the Birds after the coming home stay. Game time has been set at 8:15 by President Donald E. Beach for this game and all following night games through the month of June. During July and August, game time will be set back to 8:30.

The Red Birds will play Milwaukee on Thursday, June 11 under the lights and Indianapolis on Thursday, June 18 by special agreement with the Indians. This game appeared on the official schedule as of June 19. The Louisville after-dark assignment on June 23.

In July, besides the July 4th doubleheader with Toledo, night games are slated with Kansas City at 8:30 p. m. on Friday, July 24, with Minneapolis on Thursday, July 30 and with Toledo on Tuesday, August 25.

DE PAOLO RATES CUMMINGS FIRST AS RACE DRIVER

INDIANAPOLIS, May 14. — (UP)—The controversial question of "Who are the Big Five" of racing drivers has been answered by Pete De Paolo, the little champion.

De Paolo makes his selections from among present-day stars. He lists Wild Bill Cummings, the Indianapolis boy who won the 1934 500-mile classic, as tops. His second choice is Rex Mays, the California cyclone who led last year's race in the early stages. Babe Stapp, Midwest racing champion, gets third place. Louis Meyer, winner in 1928 and 1933 and seeking a triple victory this year, was named fourth, and Wilbur Shaw, a money driver and second finisher last year, was placed in fifth position.

Just before last year's race De Paolo picked Kelly Petillo to win and supported his prediction by becoming the little Italian's pit manager.

"Say, I've watched a lot of these Indianapolis whirrs, and drove in a couple, too, and that boy Petillo drove one of the smartest races I ever saw," he said. "It was no fluke, at all, and De Paolo's list goes so far as to pick Petillo to win again this year but he believes the May 30 race this year will see a return to competition of the old days. The faster track and gasoline restriction that is bound to bunch the cars will have several racers closely following the leader, he argues.

"The physical condition of the driver counts as much as the condition of his car," De Paolo said. "The gasoline problem this year puts the race on a new basis, for the drivers will have to depend on the pits to keep them informed of their speed. Other-wise, they'll suddenly find they're run out of gas on the backstretch. The smart boys will drive the first part of the race conservatively—around 105 miles an hour—and then have plenty of speed reserved for the end of the grind."

ORATORY CHIEF REASON FOR SENATOR STEIWER'S CLIMB

Oregon Man Now Power Politics

Three Years Ago Republican
Keynote Was Country
Lawyer

PORTLAND, Ore., May 14.—Just how power has catapulted the political star of United States Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon in the firmament of presidential makers?

Causes hoisted him from obscure country lawyer to the national power in the Republican party, to be climaxed by making the keynote speech at the O. P. conclave in Cleveland June 9?

Seven years ago Frederick (no middle name) Steiwer made his important speeches in the circuit court in Pendleton, in eastern Oregon's great grain country. Up then his political career had reached one term as district attorney and a term in the state senate, but he even is mentioned as a dark-horse presidential possibility.

Three Reasons
Oregonians believe three things contributed to Steiwer's rapid rise; his oratory, his ambition in the maneuvering of Ralph E. Laine of Oregon, national vice president of the Republican party for many years, who is in charge of arrangements for the the Cleveland convention.

Steiwer was born to politics on May 18, 1883, in Jefferson, a small village. His father and grandfather were pioneers; his grandfather, Samuel E. May, was Oregon secretary of state for two terms in the sixties.

At age of fifteen Steiwer was ready to enter Oregon State college at Corvallis, the young man in college at the time.

He was too young and small for those days, Steiwer recalls, "so I went in for the college band. My year I was band leader."

Year 1902 found the future politician with a diploma, a reputation as an excellent college debater, and no job. So he did what college graduates turned to those days—he taught school one year.

More Education
In 1903 Fred Steiwer did every successful Oregon politician ought to do (in a state college by college and university means)—he entered the University of Oregon. Again debate took interest. Older and larger he played football his first year, managed the team in 1905, joined Sigma Nu fraternity, was graduated in 1906 and went to Portland to attend university's law school, then graduated there. With a thorough knowledge of law, Steiwer, now 25, had his third diploma in 1908.

Diploma tucked snugly in his bag, the young lawyer in 1909 turned toward Pendleton, where he hung out his shingle. By 1911 he had married Miss Freida Joseph, who had attended Miss's Baldwin's school at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, and whose father owned Pendleton's largest bank. To the union was born two children, Elizabeth, now 23, and Frederick, Jr., 18.

Begins to Climb
It wasn't long before Steiwer was made deputy district attorney for Umatilla county; in 1912 he was elected district attorney. He refused a second term, apparently eyeing political jobs outside his own bailiwick. In 1917 he was elected to the state senate, where his oratory was interrupted by the war.

The young state senator resigned.

ed to enter second officers' training at Presidio, Cal., August, 1917. He was commissioned lieutenant of heavy artillery, and January, 1918, found him in France with the French army and U. S. 65th artillery. He served through all major engagements.

In 1919 Steiwer was back in Pendleton. He joined the American Legion, and since then has been its champion at home and throughout the United States. He fought for the bonus, and probably owes his first election to the senate (in 1926) to Oregon's strong Legion organization.

First Senate Race
U. S. Senator Robert N. Stan-

field, from Stanfield, Ore., about 35 miles from Steiwer's home town, fell out with Oregon Republicans early in his term. His neighbor offered himself, and on Oct. 18, 1925, Fred Steiwer became an avowed candidate for the nomination. He defeated Stanfield and faced Bert Haney, Democrat, former shipping board member, and now judge of the U. S. district court of appeals at San Francisco.

Steiwer had Anti-Saloon league backing; he pledged to support President Coolidge, and was for world court adherence. But his political path was not one of promises. In August, 1926, it was charged he had improperly filed election expenditures and a grand jury investigation was threatened; ex-Senator Stanfield threatened to run as an independent; Steiwer was assailed because he had repudiated the McNary-Haugen bill, and as election neared the Pendleton Ministerial association turned down his endorsement. And not until Oct. 30 did he get a lukewarm endorsement from Senator McNary of Oregon, now senate minority leader. The two are not close companions today.

Undaunted, however, Fred Steiwer put into good use his college debating experience, and was elected.

Old-Line Republican
In 1927 Steiwer shocked liberal Oregonians when he voted to seat William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, and Frank I. Smith of Illinois, Old Guards whom the senate refused to seat. His alliance with old-time Republicans has been consistent ever since.

Steiwer took to Washington political water like a duck. In 1930 he was vice chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee to elect western senators. He supported President Hoover on most occasions, and was mentioned prominently when Hoover sought to fill Oliver Wendell Holmes' place on the supreme court.

It was with caution that Steiwer campaigned for re-election in 1932. He did not mention Hoover, and despite an overwhelming state vote for Roosevelt, he was returned to the senate. Political wiseacres attribute this miracle to his weak Democratic opponent.

Today Senator Steiwer is one of the New Deal's most caustic critics. With the ardor of college debating days, he assails it on every hand.

Joke on Police Fails
WALLA WALLA, Wash.—Melvin Weitz's idea of a good time was to follow a policeman down the street and erase the chalk marks placed on tires of automobiles by the officer. The idea was abruptly halted when a second officer followed Weitz.
